THE COKE MEN TO ENTER PROTEST

With Others Against Freight Rates at Pittsburg Tomorrow.

DISCRIMINATION TO BE SHOWN

Special Car Will Probably Go From Uniontown and Connellsville Will Have Several Representatives at the Mass Meeting.

The meeting scheduled to be held in the rooms of the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, to protest against the discrimination practised by the railroads against the Pittsburg coal district and the Connellsville coke region promises to be largely attended and forceful in its action.

Delegations from all the principal towns in the coal and coke districts will be present. The Connellsville coke operators will be largely represented. The Uniontown delegation will probably go in a special car. It will include the coke operators and many business men. Connellsville will send a number of delegates. The Chamber of Commerce will be represented.

The principal address will be delivered by John W. Boileau, who has prepared the case and who has gathered a mass of data concerning rates from various districts to the Lakes. Howard D. Mannington, Secretary of the Ohio Coal Operators' Association, will also go into the subject in detail.

Five-minute talks are expected from a number of representative citizens of neighboring towns. On the list of speakers are Secretary Rowe of the Uniontown Chamber of Commerce, L. W. Fogg, R. F. Hopwood and others.

The Hospital Shy of Heat

As the result of a flooded cellar the nurses and patients at the Cottage State hospital are suffering from the cold and today at noon the furnace still out of commission. Since last Wednesday the cellar has been flooded and coal fires have been started in the grates in the wards and apartments but they have so far failed to produce the heat of the radiators. The nurses are doing everything possible to make the patients as comfortable as possible and every effort is being made to relieve the situation and it is thought that by tomorrow the heating apparatus will be as good as ever.

The sewer leading from the institution was frozen and the water backed into the cellar rendering the furnaces useless. Plumbers have been employed constantly since the trouble occurred and as soon as the water can be drawn from the cellar the furnace can be relired.

Yough Medico Society Meets

The monthly meeting of the Yough Medico Social Club was held last evening at the home of Dr. W. J. Bailey on Isabella street. All members but two were present. Dr. L. J. C. Bailey, of Greensburg, and a brother of the host, was present, and gave a practical talk on "Diseases of Women." A general discussion followed. Following the business meeting the doctors adjourned to the dining room where a well appointed luncheon was served.

Red carnations formed the floral decorations. Later the doctors were delightfully entertained by Dr. Bailey's Victrola. The next meeting will be held at the home of Dr. H. J. Bell at Dawson.

Gen. Bonilla Holds the Key

United Press Telegram.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6.—That General Manuel Bonilla, Honduran rebel leader, today holds the key to the Central American republic as a result of his capture of Ruatan island is confirmed in dispatches from Puerto Cortez.

With his army reinforced by natives who easily yielded to his attacks, Bonilla has established a provisional government of Honduras on the island. His next move will probably be an attack against Ceiba City, on the Honduran coast, less than 40 miles distant. Bonilla landed at Ruatan Island with two schooners bearing his rebel troops and the converted gunboat Hornet acting as a convoy.

TWENTY-SEVEN SLATED FOR ARREST NEAR HERE.

Crusade Against Selling Cigaretts to Minors is Now On and Informations are Made.

Twenty-seven merchants of Connellsville and Dunbar township are named defendants in informations sworn out before Squire Robert McLaughlin by County Detective Frank McLaughlin charging selling cigarettes to minors. The crusade is general, not only in Fayette county, but throughout the State. The matter has claimed the attention of the Federal authorities, who are also active.

The defendants, it is said, will be afforded the opportunity of entering bail without any embarrassing publicity. The warrants will be served within the next day or two. Today 25 warrants are being served in Brownsville, Masontown and points in the southern end of the county.

The local merchants who are scheduled for arrest are located both in the East and West Side. The law in this State is stringent restricting the sale of cigarettes only to those 21 years or over. Of late it is claimed dealers have been lax in their observance of this statute and have disposed of the "coffin tacks" to minors.

Twelve more informations charging the selling of cigarettes to minors were made before Squire Daniel M. Bierer by County Detective Alex McBeth. The defendants are: O'Neal Woods, Walter Evans, Minor Dunaway, Frank Goodwin, John B. Wilson, Wort Balsinger, Mary Darby, John Rowe, Charles Miasard, Fred and Chester Sharp and Mary Saib, all of Fairchance.

All waived a hearing and furnished $100 apiece as bail for court. Today the crusade continues. The section about Masontown is being covered this morning. So far only two of the defendants have insisted on hearings before squires.

A Coal Miner Dies of Injury

The body was brought to Connellsville this morning and removed by Funeral Director J. L. Stader to St. John's cemetery for interment.

Attendance at Drill Improves

No orders have yet been received directing the court martial of two members of Company D for non-attendance to drill and they will hardly come before the return of Colonel Richard Coulter, Jr., from the meeting in Philadelphia.

Last night's attendance at drill showed marked improvement since Captain A. R. Kidd made it plain that in the future absence from roll call would be regarded as something other than a joke.

East Main Street Company Failed to Come Across With Rent.

The Union Meat Market, incorporated some months ago and which has been operating in the Barricklow building on East Main street, was closed by the constable yesterday afternoon, a landlord's warrant issued at the instance of Max Levine, agent, being responsible for the suspension of business.

Some weeks ago A. H. Manheimer, manager of the meat market, disappeared with some of the company's funds, it was claimed, and since that time the rent, it is said, has not been paid.

A DENTIST SUED FOR TEN THOUSAND.

GROSS CARELESSNESS ALLEGED

Miss Friend, a Uniontown Domestic is the Plaintiff in the Case—Says She Was Made to Suffer Needlessly.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, Jan. 6.—Ten thousand dollars damages are alleged to have been sustained when Dr. Arthur Raymond Kramer of Uniontown, extracted a tooth from the jaw of Miss Mary E. Friend, a domestic, also of the county seat. Action in trespass was brought this morning by her attorneys, Robinson, McKean and Martin and H. S. Dumbauld, to recover this amount.

The tooth or root of a tooth was pulled on December 27, 1908. Miss Friend alleges that the doctor carelessly, negligently, unskillfully, and without proper investigation or inquiry as to the effect of so doing, injected into the gum or jaw of the plaintiff three large doses of cocaine, a local anesthetic, and without proper examination and with use of great force and violence, applied to the root or tooth a pair of powerful forceps, which had not been properly cleansed, and extracted the root or a part thereof, applying such force as to fracture her jaw bone.

She avers that by reason of the unskillful administration of the large doses of cocaine she was seriously poisoned and became very sick, requiring the services of physicians for a long time before her recovery from the effects, suffering great pain and agony in the meantime.

Because of the use of the alleged unclean instruments, the plaintiff avers that her jaw was infected with poisonous germs and the sickness, pain, agony and serious effects caused by the administration of cocaine aggravated.

By reason of the violent manner in which the tooth was extracted, she claims her jaw was fractured, causing great pain and agony and rendering three surgical operations necessary to remove the fragments of bone from her jaw. It is also claimed that because of the careless and unskillful conduct and treatment of the defendant the plaintiff was very sick, being confined to her bed in her residence at Uniontown for a week under the care of physicians and was then removed to the Uniontown hospital where she was confined for a period of 11 weeks, being at a great expense for the attendance and care.

At the time the tooth was extracted the plaintiff avers that she was a young, strong and healthy woman, able to earn good wages as a domestic servant but was so affected by the poisoning, suffering, pain and surgical operations that her health was permanently injured and her earning capacity impaired. As the result of the operations it is claimed she will have a scar upon her face where the necessary incision was made to remove the fragments of broken bone.

FOUR MEN MEET DEATH ON RAILS.

Duquesne Limited Runs Them Down in Pinkerton Tunnel This Morning.

BODIES BADLY MUTILATED

Foreman and Three Negroes Had Just Entered the Tunnel When Flyer Struck Them Before They Could Escape Tragic Fate.

A white man and three negroes, employed by Western Maryland contractors, were ground to bits by being run down by the Duquesne Limited at the western entrance to Pinkerton tunnel at 6.55 this morning. The men had just entered the tunnel when the crack flyer of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad rushed upon them. They had no chance to escape.

One of the victims was Foreman Ben C. Querney and another Louis Legion, a negro. The other negroes were so badly mutilated they were unrecognizable and could not be identified at the time. The bodies were turned over to the Somerset county authorities at Pinkerton.

The Duquesne, hauled by engine No. 2114 with Engineer Haggerty and Conductor Porter in charge, was running at good speed to make up lost time. The four men, unconscious of their approaching doom, walked into the tunnel. Their forms had hardly disappeared in the gloom of the subterranean cavern before there was a sharp shriek of the whistle and the sound of crunching bones and the ponderous engine crushed their forms to atoms. The emergency brakes were applied as quickly as possible but the men had been almost instantly killed.

Senator Lafollette Has It Doped Out

United Press Telegram.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 6.—Declaring that "Wall street has already selected the Presidential candidates of both parties for 1912, Senator Lafollette in the current issue of his weekly today fires the first gun in a contest to give the people the right to elect delegates to the next National convention by direct vote.

"There is just time to defeat the Wall street plan," he says. "Let the people organize and demand of every legislature the enactment of a primary law for the election of delegates to National conventions by direct vote embracing a provision that shall give to each voter the right to express upon his primary ballot his preference for President and Vice President.

"Such a primary law will beat the Wall street game and nominate and elect a President for all the people of the United States."

Mail Robbery in California

United Press Telegram.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Three bags of registered mail supposed to contain letters and valuables worth $50,000 have been stolen from mail wagons somewhere between San Francisco and Oakland, according to announcement by the postal authorities today.

The robbery is baffling as the bags disappeared while being transferred by ferry across the bay. The first was taken December 25 and the others on the 27th and 28th.

Postal authorities declare that the fact that only bags containing the largest amounts of money were taken indicate that the thieves were intimately acquainted with the postoffice system here.

WEST SIDE OPPOSED TO NEW PENNSY MOVE.

Business Interests Not Favorable to Eliminating West Side Stop for Morning Train.

West Side business men have been approached by officials of the Pennsylvania railroad and sounded in regard to their attitude towards a proposed change of schedule which will cut out the West Side station as a stop for the morning northbound train, yesterday several business men were approached regarding their views on this subject.

Sentiment among the business men of that section of Greater Connellsville is strongly against any move of this nature and if the Pennsylvania carries out its intentions in this matter it will only be after a hard fight to prevent such a step from being taken.

The railroad is anxious to eliminate two stops for the morning train to Pittsburg within the borough limits of Connellsville. Between two or three minutes which means considerable to a train's running time, can be saved if one of these stops is cut out. The West Side men however, believe there is sufficient business from that section to warrant continuing the West Side depot as a stop for the train.

Trying to Save Companion From Injury Foreigner Has Feet Crushed.

While attempting to save a companion from being run down on a bridge at Glencoe, Tuj Nadenick, a foreigner, was run down by a shifting engine about 10 o'clock last night and had both feet crushed. Nadenick and his companion were walking across the bridge when the shifter approached at good speed. They neared the end of the structure.

Nadenick checked his pace to grasp his friend and shove him to a point of safety and as he did so the engine struck him. The companion was saved from injury.

The foreigner was taken to a Cumberland hospital where his condition is said to be serious.

WATER COMPANY OFFICIALS CONFER.

Ask for Time to Consider the Borough's Proposition.

BOTH SIDES STAND FIRM

Visiting Officials Say They Cannot Give Terms Asked by Borough and a Compromise Will Probably Be the Outcome.

Three representatives of the Connellsville Water Company met last evening in the Council room and conferred with the Water Committee regarding the proposed new contract with the borough. There was no decisive outcome of the conference. After reading the terms proposed by the borough the water company officials asked more time in which to consider its provisions.

It was indicated in the meeting that concessions must be made by both sides. On some points, not stated explicitly, the water company officials declared it would be impossible for them to accept while the Councilmen were equally determined not to grant all that the company asked in its new contract.

When attention was called to the alleged excessive earnings of the Connellsville Water Company the visiting officials declared the amount had been exaggerated. The Councilmen showed an inclination towards being "shown."

After discussing both contracts at some length, the meeting was adjourned. The water company officials stated they desired time to look over the borough's proposition carefully and will submit their report on it later. No date was sent for a future conference. It is expected the water company will submit a compromise proposition for the consideration of the Water Committee after which another conference will probably be called. The borough was represented last evening by Chairman Frank Frict of the Water Committee, President James B. Millard of Town Council, and Councilmen S. P. Hay, H. C. Hays, W. H. Thomas, E. U. Hetzel, J. T. Hetzel and W. A. Bishop of the Water Committee. The Connellsville Water Company was represented by E. L. Keene, assistant to the General Manager; Superintendent S. R. Brough and H. E. Watt.

A Bad Fire in Minneapolis Today

United Press Telegram.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 6.—Two men are in the City Hospital seriously injured, the one-half million dollar plant of the Minneapolis General Electric Company is a total loss and the greater part of the city including the down town district is without electric light or power today as the result of an explosion and resulting fire early today. Men who escaped from the plant say that the explosion resulted from an accumulation of gas under the switchboard. Three minutes after the firemen arrived the roof of the plant fell in.

Sixteen engine companies by hard work prevented the fire from spreading to Pillsbury "A" flour mill, the largest in the world. Newspaper and manufacturing plants using general electric power or light are shut down and will not be able to resume until the company's plant at Taylor Falls can be connected which will not be until late tonight.

FAMILY DESTITUTE; PROVISIONS SENT.

ILLNESS AND MISFORTUNE

A family of six literally starving to death has been found within a few miles of Connellsville. As a result of the discovery a two horse wagon loaded down with supplies started for the mountains of Bullskin township taking relief in the shape of provisions and money.

The stricken family is that of Frank Lilley, one of the best known stone masons in this section. Mr. Lilley, who is about 45 years old, his wife and four grown children, two sons and two daughters, were all stricken with fever at the same time. Confined by the illness, none of the family was able to work or do anything to provide for the others. On the verge of starvation, Mr. Lilley, who lives in a lonesome part of the mountain section close to Springfield township, wrote a note to Rockwell Marietta explaining the situation.

Mr. Marietta knows Lilley, who has done considerable work for him. He immediately took steps toward sending relief. W. H. Marietta went to a local grocery store and had a large order filled while Burgess J. L. Evans donated the team to carry the goods to the Lilley place. J. Melvin Grey contributed a $5 bill. There is sufficient food to keep the family from want for a few weeks, at least, and it is hoped by that time some of them, at least, will have recovered sufficiently to provide for the others.

Lilley is a hard working man and deserving of aid at this time, say those for whom he has worked. The present sad plight of the family is due only to the fact that it is disease stricken. Had not the typhoid fever laid all the able bodied members low at the same time the appeal for aid would never have come. That is the statement of those acquainted with the family.

Bandits Hold Up Police Sergeant

United Press Telegram.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 6.—The boldest crime ever committed here was perpetrated last night when Police Sergeant Jordan of Plains was held up by two masked men, compelled to open the city vault and was then dragged to the lockup and placed in a cell while the thugs made their escape.

The holdup took place at about midnight in the Town Hall of Plains, a large suburb of nearly 2,000. Sergeant Jordon was forced at the point of pistols to open the vault but the burglars found no money. The officer was then dragged back through the hall to the lockup and placed in a cell where he remained until this morning when a miner on his way to work heard faint sounds emanating from the municipal building. Investigation resulted in Jordan's release.

The robbers had more than four hours start and a posse was organized for their capture. The State constabulary is also scouring the mountains while city police are keeping a sharp lookout on all incoming roads. Only last night Secretary Will F. Maguire removed from his office in the building checks amounting to more than $2,000 and placed them in the bank.

PENNSY ROUNDLY SCORED TODAY.

Interstate Commerce Commission Calls Car Distribution Unfair.

NO SEMBLANCE OF EQUITY

Charge of Discrimination of Bulah Coal Company Sustained, Commission Declaring Fair Apportionment Is Absolutely Disregarded.

United Press Telegram.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The Pennsylvania railroad company was roundly scored by the Interstate Commerce Commission in a decision today declaring it to be most unfair in the distribution of its cars at various coal mines. All semblance of equity in apportioning the cars is absolutely disregarded, according to the decision.

Complaint against the railroad was made by the Bulah Coal Company of Pennsylvania which asks damages in the sum of $155,403. It declared that Pennsylvania officials refused to supply it with enough cars to ship its products, whereas the mines of a competitor less than half a mile distant received all the cars it needed.

In sustaining the complaint and criticising the system followed by the railroad, the Commission declared:

"One of the evils lying at the root of the trouble is that the mine that has the largest supply of cars may not only be operated at less cost but is able to attract miners from other mines because of the assurance that it gives more constant employment."

P. V. Rovnianek Is Insolvent

Robert H. Marshall has been appointed receiver for the partnership of P. V. Rovnianek & Company, steamship agents, exchange bankers and real estate dealers, of 611 Grant street, Pittsburg. His bond was fixed at $50,000. John Kadlecik brought the action. He claims to be a creditor of the defendant to the extent of $2,000. The bill was directed against P. V. Rovnianek, Julius J. Wolf and Anthony S. Ambrose. The concern has been conducting a branch in New York and one in Connellsville, which was removed some time ago to Uniontown, according to the bill of complaint.

The New York branch was incorporated under the name of P. V. Rovnianek & Company, incorporated, and the Pittsburg concern owns all the stock, except qualifying shares owned by two clerks in the New York office.

The bill of complaint relates that the attorney general of New York has begun proceedings against the New York corporation on the ground that its charter does not permit it to do business such as it has been doing; that a receiver was appointed December 30, that the receiver has taken charge of the office and closed up its place of business in New York and that the company will be obliged to close its doors in Pittsburg and quit business.

The assets of the failed concern are given as approximately $1,100,000, which include realty in Allegheny, Washington and Westmoreland counties. The liabilities are given as about $900,000.

ASK FOR LICENSES.

Proposed Hunters' Fee of $1.00 Would Bring in $125,000.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—The State Game Commission yesterday formerly approved the proposed bill for the annual licensing of hunters and will make an effort to have it adopted at the present session of the Legislature. The bill, as drafted makes an annual hunters' license fee of $1, payable at the opening of a season, and any farmer or land owner can require a hunter to show evidence of payment before allowing him to hunt.

The commissioners' position is that such a law would enable a check to be kept on irresponsible hunters by means of license numbers and at the same time to bring in revenue sufficient to aid in the game protection and preservation work of the commission. The bill would yield from $100,000 to $125,000 in a fair hunting year, giving the commission much more than it has at present for its operations and enabling it to establish new game preserves along the lines of those now in three state forestry preserves.

The proposed license would affect everyone going out to hunt. It would operate much as in other states where it has been successful.

STEEL PRICES NOT TO DROP.

Price Declares Corey's Resignation Will Not Change Conditions.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 6.—(Special.) Discussing the resignation of William Ellis Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation, and the reports that this would be followed by price concessions in the steel trade in order to attract more business, this policy being said to be favored by Judge Gary, chairman of the corporation, President Charles S. Price of the Cambria Steel Company, one of the largest independents in the country, this afternoon issued the following statement:

"Judge Gary has been consistently against a policy of cutting prices as unsettling business, and consequently labor conditions, and is unwise, contributing to an increase of orders. The facts are, as gleaned by our agents from all parts of the country, that the consumer does not want lower prices, appreciating that steel prices have not been high. All that he wants is to be assured that if he places an order his competitor will not be given a lower price. I do not look for any reduction in prices of steel products."

Reduced Prices.

This advertisement is not an ordinary advertisement because we want to talk about some goods that are too good for the Bargain Tables, yet we want to get rid of them before stocktaking. Our regular advertisement will tell you about our January Bargains from all over the store. It offers you an opportunity to economize that comes to you every January. We expect to sell these goods we mention below in the next few days. Some one is sure to be interested in these and the one question for you to decide is whether you want any of them or not. If you'll take our word for it they are worth seeing and worth buying.

Genuine Mink Scarfs and Muffs

These Mink Scarfs and Muffs are separate from our regular fur line. They come from Revillion Frer's, one of the largest if not the largest fur house in America. Revillion's furs have the stamp of reliability. The price of mink for next season is already decided and will be from 25 to 35% higher than now. The Scarfs range in price from $25.00 to $125.00. Muffs from $25.00 to $50.00. We call particular attention to these Scarfs—prettiest pieces of mink fur that we have ever had to show. We have marked those at prices that mean a reduction to your of about 15% from these prices. Buying mink fur is like buying diamonds—they are always in style—with care, almost indestructable and, because of scarcity, each year has seen the price advancing over that of the previous year. We do not want to boast too much, but we want to state that you'll not find furs such as these shown elsewhere in this vicinity.

They are really worth coming to see whether you intend to buy or not. On sale Thursday morning at

After the Rush
Now Is the Great Closing Out Time.

The Union Cupply stores are offering now great reductions on all lines of women's and misses' goods, consisting of ready-made suits, wraps, skirts, shirt waists, etc. There are great big lines of fashionable medium priced goods, and starting this day, there will be a great reduction on all of them. If you have not yet secured your winter outfit, it is a good time now to do so; it is a money-saving time for you, as the goods must be sold, and we recommend that you come early. We have just completed our inventory, and every article has been marked down to such a low price that they cannot last long.

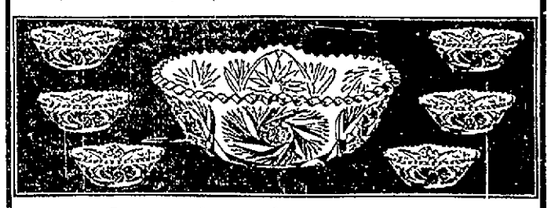

There Are Great Reductions in the Shoe Department.

Our shoe stocks, we find after inventory, are entirely too heavy, and we are going to make one strenuous effort to reduce them. Reducing the price, is, to our notion, the best way of reducing the stocks. Therefore, every pair of shoes has been gone over carefully and marked down; in some instances fully 25% less than the original price. We defy any competition to show a better line of shoes, for men, women, boys and girls than the Union Supply Company stores have on hand. They are all made according to our own specifications; every pair guaranteed to us by the makers, and we in turn, guarantee them to our customers. If not satisfactory, a new pair awaits you or we will refund your money, if you prefer.

OWENSDALE.

OWENSDALE, Jan. 6.—As usual the church was crowded last evening and another enthusiastic meeting was held. The presentation of logical facts each evening has a telling effect upon the large congregations, each being intermingled with facts eloquence and pathos. Rev. J. J. Funk has gradually brought the work of the community to a point where it is possible to handle the situation from one point. Rev. Funk is an eloquent speaker, a superb temperance advocate a polished speaker in this given line, possessed of vibrant serenity, with a refreshing way of directing his remarks that has won the way of the community.

The Sunday school teachers and the superintendent will take charge of the meetings Friday and Saturday evenings, the preceding evenings were given to the general public, the men one evening and the women another evening. The coming week the young people will be given away and from present indications they will give a somewhat different tone to the meetings as they have taken hold of them in a very forceful manner.

BOARD OF TRADE

Organization is Being Strongly Urged in Mt. Pleasant.

MT. PLEASANT, Jan. 6.—If the hopes of merchants here take tangible form, the town will have an organized Board of Trade before spring. Talk of forming such a body has been quietly going on among the business men here for some time but principally since the Old Home Week of last July.

There are many matters that the citizens of the Mountain Town desire to bring about and the conditions make necessary an organized body to carry them out. One merchant said the other days to a reporter

"There is something this town needs and that is a Board of Trade, an organization that would have a representative to make it his business to continually look about for new companies to locate here." This is an excellent idea, for no town is better prepared to furnish fuel and water to any manufacturing concern than is Mt. Pleasant. But that is not all the town really deserves. It needs a better mail and express service, which can only be brought about by the completion of the P. R. R. through to Hecla. Scarcely a mile of track would need to be laid to give the Southwest branch a through line from Youngwood to Scottdale. This would not only shorten the distance of hauling but grant the town a through railway service and thus better the mail and express as well as the freight service

The Old Home Week committee taught the citizens of the town to know how much strength was stored up in her citizens and how great undertakings could be brought about by their united force.

Then the merchants could enjoy a regular closing hour or a definite date for closing on account of a holiday. They could enjoy the pleasure of knowing the creditable characters of customers and scores of other matters which would repay them for the little work each would have to perform as his part in the Merchants' Association

GAS, DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION AND ALL STOMACH MISERY GOES.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your Stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas, which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order Stomach within five minutes, and digest properly, without any fuss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat.

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so?

The general health of women is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N.Y.

WHEN IS A BOSS NOT A BOSS?

Two questions have troubled the minds of the people for many years, thanks to the pernicious efforts of designing politicians. They are:

When is a Trust not a Trust?

When is a Boss not a Boss?

We discussed the former a few days ago. We will try to answer the latter today. We are moved to this determination by some remarks of Editor Ernest Francis Acheson in the Washington Observer. After noting one of Editor John Lester Keffer's impassioned appeals to the Fayette county Democracy to be good men like the Keystoners, Editor Acheson says:

The Genius is an old Democratic organ. It has fought the battles of that party since the days of Jackson. But it evidently does not have much hope that its party can accomplish much in Pennsylvania.

The Democratic party in this State has had bad leadership. Its bosses have been in cahoot with the Pomoxo gang. They have been check by jowl with Mulvihill and the Hemer interests. It is almost too much to hope that the Democratic party of Pennsylvania can rehabilitate itself in public confidence.

But true Democrats, who really believe in old-fashioned Democratic principles, can make their beliefs effective by joining hands with the Keystone party in the work of purifying the political atmosphere in Pennsylvania.

Editor Acheson was a member of Congress for a number of years, and he was willing to be again, but the fates willed otherwise and Editor Acheson was defeated. Prior to his defeat he at times sustained intimate political relations with the late Senator Quay, who was reputed in some circles to be a Boss of great renown; at other times, he transferred this intimate relation to the late Christopher Lyman Magee, another reputed Boss. In the meantime, he was credited with being something of a Boss himself, especially in Washington county.

All this, however, was while Editor Acheson was a Congressman. Since he has had the misfortune to suffer defeat and has been relegated to the ranks, he has ceased to be a Boss or to have any commerce with the Bosses. He denounces Senator Penrose as a Boss and calls the Republican organization the Gang. He is himself a Leader of the insurgent movement, better known in Pennsylvania as the Keystone Party.

This brings us back to the original question, When is a Boss not a Boss? When does he shed the ignominious appellation, cast aside the obloquy, rise clothed in dignity and virtue and become the more or less Peerless Leader?

The answer seems plain. This transformation occurs at the precise period when he fails to remain an officeholder, or in other words when he is transferred from the Ins to the Outs.

In the light of this explanation, intelligent voters will be able to understand what constitutes a Boss and what makes a Leader, who compose the Gang and who the People.

CANALS AND CONSERVATION.

"All things come to him who waits," and some of the things that come are not as welcome as others, but the proverb is a popular one and it is often pat.

The canalization of the Yough, for example, furnished Uniontown with material for Mud Island jokes for the past several years, but we have all along felt that Beesontown would bow down to it yet, and so it has come to pass.

The Uniontown Herald grows enthusiastic over the Lake Erie and Ohio river ship canal, which it points out will connect Brownsville with the Great Lakes; and, with the canalization of the Yough as far as Connellsville, which it declares "has more than the merit of possibility," water transportation will be afforded for "our great output of coke."

Quite so. We are still the center of the coke region it seems.

But water is essential to water transportation. The canal and canalization propositions are progressive and important, but much more pressing and of far greater moment is the work of preserving, protecting and enlarging our forests in order to insure better water supplies, and of protecting those supplies against wholesale pollution.

Any scheme of river improvement which ignores the problem of dwindling streams begins at the wrong end. A dam without water is a dam joke.

The United States Steel Corporation practises publicity in its reports and accountings to its stockholders, but it is suspected that it has not taken the public into its confidence regarding the prospective changes in its administration.

The State Game Commission wants a law passed making it necessary to take out a license to hunt. We have to have a license to ride, to drive, to wed, to carry weapons and to do other thing, and now it is proposed to tax us for hunting. A license is only another form of taxation, but it is intended to be a tax upon those who can afford to pay it. From this standpoint it is perhaps equitable, but there should be a limit to its annoyances.

Cuba—Gosh, it's tough to be good!

"Meet me at the railroad rate meet!" is what every Connellsville coke operator and every Connellsville region business man should resolve to do.

We read that Senator Oliver has been invited to address the Secretary of War upon the question of proper height for the Pittsburg bridges. The junior Senator has been growing ever since he told the old boys some things about the Tariff they didn't know.

Foreign bank failures are getting too frequent. It is time for workmen to realize that the safe banks of the country are the national and state banks, whose affairs are subject to periodic investigation by the authorities.

Dynamite has made its appearance in the Cumberland region mining war. It is physically but not morally powerful.

Deputy Sheriffs and Constables have an uneasy job in Westmoreland county.

Pittsburg is promised a new B. & O. station. The B. & O. needs it worse than Pittsburg.

The Sheriff of Somerset county has added a couple of bloodhounds to his staff of deputies.

The United States Steel Corporation is perfecting its pension plans. It is the aim of the corporation to build up a large and loyal family.

C. B. Campbell's Reminiscences of Gen. Washington and Perryopolis.

C. B. Campbell of 145 Tenth street, West Side, recalls some interesting stories of his boyhood days, chief of which are those which had reference to General George Washington's old mill in Fayette county, as Mr. Campbell was born and raised near Perryopolis on land laid out by the first President.

His father, William Campbell, who came from Ohio, took up about 150 acres of timber land near Perryopolis. This he cleared and converted it into a paying farm. There were a number of cabins erected there when he came. Of these all had been torn away but one up to about 50 years ago when the last was razed.

A number of silver spoons, copper coins and papers were found in the old buildings, among them what is believed to be an original copy of an article of agreement between General Washington and Col. Israel Shreve for the purchase of 1,600 acres of land in "Washington's Bottom" now the country about Perryopolis.

The paper is yellow and worn with age and is dated July 31, 1795. The purchase price was 4,000 pounds "lawful money of Pennsylvania." The paper bears the signature of George Washington. It was recorded by Alex McLean on June 7th, 1802.

Mr. Campbell remembers Meyer Sutton, an old laborer who lived in Perryopolis years ago, and who saw Washington at that place a number of times. Campbell remembers one incident in particular which Sutton claimed to have witnessed. Sutton said Washington drove up to Perryopolis in a carriage drawn by four horses, and as usual there was soon a crowd around the vehicle, everyone eager to get a glimpse of its occupant. On one occasion a little boy was very anxious to see inside and finally was able to climb up on the wheel. Peering into the opening he exclaimed:

"Why he's nothing but a man."

"You are right, my boy. I am nothing but a man," Washington is said to have replied.

Another character remembered by Campbell is Simon Funtomunty, an old colored slave belonging to Washington. When he was a boy, the West Side man says the slave was then about 98 years old.

SCOTTDALE, Jan. 6.—Dr. N. E. Sisley, Registrar of Vital Statistics and Secretary of the Scottdale Board of Health, in his annual report will show that Scottdale may be classed as a remarkably healthy town so far as the death rate goes. The total death rate in Scottdale in 1910 was 50, and this with the census of 1910 makes a percentage of about 9 to the thousand. Some of the neighboring towns have a death rate of double or more than this. In East Huntingdon township there were 151 deaths in the year just closed. The causes of death are varied, but pneumonia leads as a cause. The number of contagious and infectious diseases reported were as follows: Measles, 191 cases; typhoid fever, 70; scarlet fever, 9; diphtheria, 6; chicken pox, 1; infantile paralysis, 2; of these there were three deaths from typhoid fever. The causes of other deaths were: Anaesthesia, Addison's disease, accidental gun shot, arterio sclerosis, Bright's disease, cancer, diabetes, gastric ulcer, umbilical hemorrhage, shock from fracture and suicide, each one; apoplexy, gastritis and premature birth each two; lifocolitis and malnutrition each three; nephritis and tuberculosis each five; pneumonia, seven; typhoid fever, 3; premature births and still born each two; heart disease, one; wiernia, one; paralysis, one.

The death rate for other years was: 1909, 43; 1908, 46; 1907, 67; 1906, 63; 1905, 964; 1904, 37; 1903, 53; 1902, 39; 1901, 37.

The Board of Health which is made up of Dr. S. W. Newman, president; Dr. N. E. Sisley, secretary; J. I. Murphy, E. F. DeWitt and A. F. Myers, with Frank P. Goshorn, health officer, have been active during the year and infectious diseases have been well looked after. From a standpoint of health, Scottdale is one of the best towns in the state.

Why Do Men DRINK?

When you stop to think of the terrible results which comes to men who indulge to excess in intoxicating beverages, well may you ask, Why do men drink? The fact simply stated is "A victim of the Drink Habit can no more resist liquor than a man with ague can stop shivering." Drunkenness is a disease and must be treated as such. The wives and mothers of those who drink intoxicants will be glad to know there is a remedy which will restore their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Many thousands of grateful women praise Orrine for its benefits. Orrine has been known to effect a cure after all other means failed.

Read this letter from Sullivan & Sinnuen Co., Utica, N. Y.:—

During the past five or six years we've sold practically all the different cures for the liquor habit on the market. We've never yet found one that gave the entire satisfaction which ORRINE has given. We have several cases that have come to our attention where excellent results have been attained by the use of ORRINE. We are so convinced of its merits that we unhesitatingly recommend and guarantee it in all cases of the "Liquor Habit."

Orrine is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. Orrine No. 2, in pill form, is for those who wish to cure themselves. Orrine costs only $1 a box. The guarantee is in each box. Write for free Orrine booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to Orrine Co., 118 Orrine Building, Washington, D. C. Orrine is for sale in this city by Barkley's Pharmacy, 120 S. Pittsburg St.

They know Orrine is a reliable and efficacious remedy for drunkenness and they will not offer you a substitute.

"Did I shudder and shrink away?" she asked. "I didn't know it. I wasn't angry; I'm not now. But—but that was a terrible thing you asked of me."

"Would it have struck you as horrible," he persisted, "if I had asked it a month ago?"

"Perhaps not," she answered thoughtfully. "I've changed a good deal in the last month—since we sailed away from San Francisco and left the world behind us—our world—and came out into this great white empty one. I don't know why that is."

"I know." He was speaking with a sort of brutal intensity that startled her. "I know. It's not in the last month you've changed; it's within the last 24 hours; it's since you saw and fell in love with that murderous lying brute of a Cayley."

"I don't know," she said very quietly, "whether you're trying to kill the love I have for you—the old love—or not, Tom, but unless you're very careful, you'll succeed in doing it. I don't think I want to talk to you any more now, not even sit here beside you. I'm going to take a little walk."

He held himself rigidly until till she had disappeared round the end of the deckhouse. Then he bent over and buried his face in his hands!

What the thing was that roused him to his present surroundings he never knew. He was conscious of no sound, but suddenly he sat erect and stared about him in amazement. It had grown quite dark. It must be two or three hours since Jeanne had left the chair beside him and announced that she was going to take a little walk.

He spoke her name, not loudly at first, for he thought she must be close by. But the infinite silent spaces seemed to absorb the sound of his voice. There was no sign that any sentient thing, except his very self, had heard the words he uttered. Then he called louder.

The steps were rather difficult to negotiate, but by using both hands to supplement his one good foot, he succeeded in creeping down them, and then in making his way along the corridor to the girl's door.

He knocked faintly at first; then louder, and finally cried out her name again, this time in genuine alarm. He tried the door, found that it was not locked, and opening it and switching on a light, perceived that the stateroom was empty.

He heard footsteps crossing the deck overhead. No, that could not be Jeanne; it was a heavy tread, a curious, shuffling tread.

He closed the door behind him. Then he limped slowly down the corridor toward the foot of the companionway. The heavy tread was already descending the stairs.

He turned the corner, stopped short and gasped. And that was all There was no time even for a cry. He had caught one glimpse of a monstrous figure clad in skins, huge in bulk, hairy-faced like a gorilla.

And then, the man or beast had, with beastlike quickness, lifted his arm and struck. And Tom Fanshaw dropped down at his feet, senseless.

CHAPTER VII.

The Rosewood Box.

On the girl, Tom Fanshaw's passionate, stormy avowal had the effect of a sort of moral earthquake. It left the ground beneath her feet suddenly unstable and treacherous; it threatened to bring down about her ears the whole structure of her life. The very thing she had relied upon for shelter and security against outside troubles and dangers, was, on the instant, fraught with a greater danger than any of them.

For the first few moments after his avowal she had felt no emotion other than that of astonishment and incredulity. Even when he asked her if she could not marry him, anyway, though the question revolted her, she told the truth in saying that she was not angry.

The anger came later, but it burned into a flame that was all the hotter for its tardiness in kindling It must have an outlet somewhere, and as such, the promenade up and down the other side of the deck was altogether insufficient.

The sight of a small boat at the foot of the accommodation ladder seemed to offer something better. So, pulling on a pair of fur gauntlets, she dropped into it, cast off the painter, shipped the pair of light oars it contained, and rowed away without any thought of her destination—of any destination whatever; without, even, a very clear idea of what she was doing She must do something; that was all she knew. Certainly she pulled away from the yacht's side with no idea that she was running into any possible danger.

It was half a mile, perhaps, from the yacht to the particular bit of shelving beach toward which she unconsciously propelled the boat. She rowed steadily, without so much as a glance over her shoulder, until she felt the grate of the shingle beneath the bow.

She became aware, not only that she had unconsciously come ashore, but also that the yacht was nowhere to be seen. A bank of fog had come rolling in from the eastward, so heavy as to render an object 100 paces away totally invisible. The clump of empty buildings here on the beach could hardly be half that distance, as she remembered, yet looking 'round from her seat in the row boat, she could make out no more than their blurred masses against the white ice and sand which surrounded them.

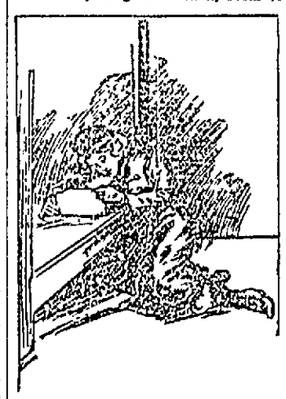

She scrambled out of the boat and pulled it high up on the beach. The fog made the air seem cold, though for the arctic it was a mild night. Two of the abandoned buildings on the beach behind her were mere sheds, windowless, absolutely bare, never having served, evidently, any other purpose than that of storage. But the third, and largest, as she remembered it, offered a shelter that was becoming attractive. There were some rude bunks in it where she could rest comfortably enough; and, unless she was mistaken, Scales had left in the hut a half-burned candle which they had used in exploring its dark interior. She had a box of wax vestas in her pocket. She could go in there and make herself at home, and at the same time keep an alert ear for a hail from the yacht.

She found the candle in the place where she remembered Scales had laid it down, struck a light and wedged the candle into a knot-hole She turned toward one of the bunks with the idea of stretching out there, and by relaxing her muscles, persuade, perhaps, her overstrung nerves to relax, too.

She had taken a step toward it, indeed, before she saw, through the murk and candle smoke, the thing that lay right before her eyes—a rather large, brass-bound rosewood box or chest. It had not been here in the afternoon when they had entered the place, for they had searched its bare interior thoroughly in the hope that there might be something which provious investigators had overlooked This box, six inches high and a foot long, or more, could not have been here then. It was standing now in the most conspicuous place in the room—in the very middle of the bunk.

The sight of it might well have caused astonishment or alarm in the girl's mind. But it was neither alarm nor astonishment that her next act expressed. She dropped down on her knees beside the rude wooden bunk, drew the chest up close in the tight embrace of her young arms, laid her cheek against the cold polished surface of its blackened wood, and cried

Every question that might have asked itself—how the thing could have come there, and what its coming might portend to herself or to the other of the Aurora's people—was swept away in a sudden rush of filial affection and regret which the sight of it instantly awoke It had reached her with that sudden poignant stab of memory which inanimate objects, familiar by long association, seem to be more potent to call up than the very persons of the friends with whom they are associated. The sight of her father himself could hardly have had so instantaneous and overwhelming an effect upon her as the sight of this old chest, which was one of the earliest of her associations with him.

It had always stood, until he had taken it with him on that last voyage of his, upon a certain farther corner of his desk in the old library. It was one of those objects of a class that children always love—smooth, polished, beautiful; beautiful and, at the same time, defying curiosity.

It was quite a masterpiece of cabinet work No hinges were visible, and the cover fitted so closely upon the box itself that the line which separated them was hard to discover. And there was no trace of keyhole or lock. To those uninitiated into its secret, it defied any attempt to open it.

Presently she seated herself on the bunk, took the little chest on her knees and set about opening it. Between the cold and her excitement she found this rather a difficult thing to do, though her mind never, never hesitated over the slightest detail of the necessary formula of procedure. She knew in just what order to press in those innocent-looking little ornamental tacks in the brass tizzling; remembered the right moment to turn the box up on its end and let the just released steel ball roll down its channel to the pocket, where it must lie before the last pressure upon the last spring would prove effective. She no more faltered over it than she would have faltered over her alphabet.

And at last, when her numbed fingers had completed their task, the counter-weighted lid rose slowly by itself, just as it had used to, and revealed to her swimming eyes the contents of the interior.

Up to the moment she had not realized what the finding of the dispatch box meant. It had not occurred to her that a full account of her father's expedition, a narrative which would reach, perhaps, to the morning of the last day of all, was lying here, right under her eyes.

But now when the cover opened and she saw beneath it a thick volume, bound in red morocco, she realized that here, under her hand, was the very object, in search of which the Aurora had set out upon her perilous voyage.

The first sight of her father's clear, erect, precise handwriting warmed her with a sudden courage. But even this new inspiration of courage did not make her strong enough to turn back and read the last entry in that tragic journal first. She tried to do it, but the will failed her. So she began at the beginning. Once she had plunged into the fascinating narrative, the whole of the outside world faded away from her. She was oblivious to the fact that the darkness outside was no longer the mere darkness of the fog; oblivious to the rising wind that poured its icy stream through the leaky walls of the hut and made the candle flicker; oblivious, even to the very sound which she had meant to wait for—the sound of Tom's voice calling out to her from the yacht, and the sound of other, more alarming, nearer voices

They all fell on deaf ears as she turned page after page of that precious record of her father's life. It was written, in the main, in the scientific, observant, unimpassioned tempor which she know so well. He chronicled those days of peril, when their ship, crushed in the ice, and only kept from sinking by that very ice, which had just destroyed her, was drifting along in the 'pack,' to what seemed certain destruction, as quietly and as explicitly as he did the uneventful voyage through Behring strait. The man's courage was so deeply elemental in him that he could not be self-conscious about it.

He told of the land, the strange, uncharted shore, whose discovery offered them a respite, at least, from that destruction; told how he got his remaining stores ashore and built the hut, where, in all human probability, he and his companions were to spend the rest of their lives

Finally she reached the record of the day when he had consigned to the sea the bottle containing the chart of the coast and the account of his plight, together with the course which the relief ship must take, should such a relief ship be sent out, to have any hope at all of reaching them

"I suppose," his narrative for this day concluded, "there is hardly one chance in ten thousand that my message will ever be picked up, and certainly not one in a million that it will be found in time to bring an effective relief. However, it helps to keep the others cheerful, and that is the main thing"

At the close of the day's entry was a single line which contracted her heart with a sharp spasm of pain. "This is Jeanne's birthday," it said.

She resumed her reading presently, and came to the point where the Walrus people entered into the narrative; their plight, their rescue and their welcome by the three men, who by now were the only survivors of the original expedition.

She was reading faster now, with none of those little meditative pauses that had marked her progress through the earlier pages of the journal, for the sinister termination of the narrative began to foreshadow itself darkly, from the moment—the first moment of the appearance of the Walrus people on the scene. Her father's description of the man Roscoe, of the expression that had been plain to read in his face as he had listened to the account of the gold-bearing ledge across the glacier, gave her a shuddering premonition; apparently, her father had experienced the same feeling himself Day after day Roscoe's name appeared, always accompanied by some little phase of misgiving.

For just one day this dread seemed to have been lifted from Captain Fielding's spirit. That was the day the sun came back to them, putting an end to their long arctic night. "It has been a hard winter," he wrote, "and I am glad it is over The hardest thing about it has been our sleeplessness, from which we have all suffered. Today we have enjoyed a change, having taken a walk along the beach. Even Roscoe seems humanized a little by a return of the frank sunshine, and may, perhaps, develop into a tolerable companion. Tomorrow I have promised, if it is fine, to guide them across the glacier to the gold ledge '

It was the next to the last entry in the journal. She turned the page, paled and pressed her lips tight together when the array of blank pages before her told her that she had reached the end Then she read the last words her father had ever written.

"Took the Walrus people to the ledge today. Have no heart to describe the scene that they enacted there. The man Roscoe certainly means to kill me. If it were not for my conviction that the danger from him is largely personal to myself, that he means me and no other, probably, for his victim, I think I should have him shot as a measure of justifiable prevention. He is not a man, but a great sinister brute—literally sinister, for he is left-handed. I shall walk warily, and hope the crisis may soon be over." Evidently that part of his wish had come true.

The book slipped out of the girl's hands, and she sat, with horror-widened eyes, staring at the candle, until it guttered and went out. Slowly, the outside world began to take its place again around her. She knew that she was shivering, half-frozen, that the icy wind was whining through the cracks in her rude shelter.

She thought she heard some one moving about outside, and that thought brought her quickly to her feet. She made her way to the door of the hut, called out; waited a breathless instant—and cried aloud in sudden terror.

Lost Her Hair.

Here is a piece of live news from Browntown, Minn, that ought to interest skeptical men or women readers of The Courier who are losing their hair or have dandruff or itching scalp.

Remember that A. A. Clarke sells Parisian Sage under a positive guarantee to stop falling hair and itching scalp and eradicate dandruff in two weeks.

Parisian Sage is a most refreshing and daintily perfumed hair dressing, free from grease or stickiness. It makes dull lifeless hair radiant and lustrous.

"Parisian Sage is the best hair grower and beautifier and dandruff cure. I lost all my hair through typhoid fever; I was almost baldheaded and my scalp was as sore as could be. I tried everything, but in vain. Finally I tried Parisian Sage, and after using one bottle my hair started to grow, and has grown three or four inches inside of two months. I advise every lady who wants beautiful hair to use Parisian Sage." Miss Meta M Kruger, Browntown, Minn, June 8, 1910.

Parisian Sage is only 50 cents a large bottle at A. A. Clarke's and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

THE STAGE AND THE PLAYERS.

"The Gay Morning Glories" Tonight.

A fairyland of brilliancy could hardly outshine the magnificence of "The Gay Morning Glories, the latest and merriest of all musical extravaganza There has been considerable comment in reference to this organization, which will be presented tonight at the Soisson theatre, its beauty and meritorious qualities having been praised by press and public wherever 'The Gay Morning Glories" presented itself, and it may therefore be a foregone conclusion that the "Standing Room Only' sign will be displayed tonight at the Soisson.

Away from the general merriment accompanying those lighter musical extravaganzas, 'The Gay Morning Glories" offer an endless number of electrical surprises surpassing anything seen in a majority of the Broadway attractions.

Its devices are not only original but are also of the unusual splendor, eclipsing in their glitter and unrivalled brilliancy the most fascinating pictures ever presented upon any burlesque stage. A beautiful background to the whole is offered in the exquisite, handsome and gorgeous gowns, most of which are creations of the French capital.

The attraction itself is far away from the general type of burlettas, being of a higher standard and equipped on a more elaborate scale. A score of pretty maidens with bewitching smiles and sunny faces add to the brilliancy of the entire production, which is lavishly blended by an endless number of tuneful melodies and picturesque ensembles.

"Human Hearts."

Till we have reflected on it, we are scarcely aware how much the sum of human happiness is indebted to the stage. We acquire cheerfulness and vigor from mere association with our fellow men in the theatre, and from the looks of happy expectancy radiating from our neighbor's countenance, inspired by anticipation of prospective enjoyment of good, clean, wholesome drama, well acted and properly presented.

Such, at least, is the idea brought forcibly to mind in gazing over an audience assembled to witness "Human Hearts" aptly described as the 'Forever Evergreen Success" "Human Hearts" is a play that invariably appeals to all that is best in man's nature, and uplifts him from the sordid cares and petty worries of daily toil and trouble. The story of "Human Hearts" is clean, wholesome and intelligible to everyone There is no suggestion of vulgarity in any of its acts; but a story of convincing strength is told by the author, in a manner that appeals irresistably to all classes of theatregoers.

The great success of "Human Hearts" is made possible by its interesting story of humanity and human feelings and the skillful manner in which it is told. It touches our heartstrings, rouses our latent better instincts and makes us feel kinder towards our fellow men for having witnessed it.

"Human Hearts" will be presented this season with an especially strong company of players, and the same fidelity to scenic and mechanical detail that made its former visits notable. The engagement is for Saturday afternoon and night, Jan 7.

"The Texas Ranger."

"The Texas Ranger" is a play for everyone, enjoyed by young and old. It is true to life and shows the true manly man and woman The dialogue is witty and the dramatic situations are intense and thrilling. Without a dull or unappreciative moment See it at the Soisson theatre next Tuesday night, Jan 10.

The tabernacle was well filled last evening and the meeting was full of snap from start to finish. The singing by the large choir was splendid, their rendering of the hymn, "We're Here to Win" being especially good. Miss Brown and Mr. Mills sang "Nailed To The Cross" with a sympathetic interpretation of the sentiment of the hymn. Evangelist Davis called for prayers from the audience, dividing it into sections and a large number participated. He then had them repeat a prayer together, the Scripture exercise being conducted in a similar manner. Rev. W. G. Russell, pastor of the Scottdale Baptist Church, told the audience of the good work now going on his church as a result of the recent campaign there. "I never had to work so hard in my life," said he. "We have taken in new members every Sunday since the evangelists left and they are people whose lives show a radical change. Our prayer meetings were never so large and the meetings are so interesting that it is hard to close them. One woman who used to attend the nickelodeons now attends prayer meeting instead and says she can hardly wait for prayer meeting night to arrive."

Evangelist Davis preached an interesting sermon with his characteristic original presentation from the text, "One Thing I Know that whereas I was blind I now see." Among other things he said: "It is possible for every man to know whether he is a Christian or not. This man who has been healed of his blindness by Jesus did not understand how annointing his eyes with clay and washing them in the pool could restore his eyesight, but he did know that after he was healed he could see. It is difficult to describe things to a blind person so that they can fully comprehend them. What they need is sight. It is just as difficult to explain spiritual things to one that is spiritually blind. What they need is spiritual vision and Christ will give it to anyone that is willing to obey Him. Doubtless the clay on the man's eyes was disagreeable. It is disagreeable to have your eyes smeared with the clay of conviction but it is needed in order that you may go to the pool and wash. I do not know what your pool may be. It may be put up your hand, to come up front or to do some other simple thing. I do know that you cannot dictate to God just how you shall become a Christian. You may have feelings or you may not have them but you are not saved by your feelings. A lot of people seem to expect something like an electric shock to run up their back when they are converted. God's time for you is now and if you will do as he tells you, you will get plenty of feeling in due time."

Following the sermon a number expressed the desire to begin the Christian life. "I want all of you men who have backbones instead of wish bones to stand on your feet. You know whether you are a man or not and if you are not a man, keep your seat" said the evangelist. The men stood and sang "Onward Christian Soldiers." The evangelist closed the meeting with a rapid fire testimony service in which four hundred people spoke in ten minutes, a few being as follows:

"I am glad that I can see without glasses."

"I got my eyesight since you came here."

"Once I had a wish bone, now I have a back bone.'

"I desire to accept Christ tonight."

"I thank the Lord for what He is doing in Connellsville."

"I am saved and trying to save others."

Games Tonight.
Homestead at McKeesport.

The Cokers' lost to McKeesport last night after having won every home game since December 13, last. It was the first game the team has lost at home since Big John Ahern donned the orange jersey and got into the game. True it is they haven't been annexing any contests on the road but they were getting away with an even break.

Last night the team was simply outclassed. McKeesport's splendid teamwork was too great an obstacle to be overcome. Added to the well oiled machinery of the visitors, Forward Boggio put up a stellar game and had three sensational shots to his credit besides one basket that was easier to make.

Because of the strong offensive work of the Tubers, Getzinger was able to pile up six baskets by camping under the ring and dumping them in. Towards the close of the game the tables were turned and Big John Ahern got three of the same variety. Dark and Beggs, for the Cokers, failed to score, but shot after shot missed the basket by a hair's breadth. In the first half Kummer stayed out because of a sore hand and sent Doyle in. Doyle got one field goal. Lack of work found him somewhat out of condition and Kunmher went in in the second half.

Kid Dark scored the first point of the game with a foul but a short while later Sears evened it up. Ilgolf's field goal gave the locals a two point lead but Getzinger caged one and O'Donnell followed, changing the situation. Another foul brought the Cokers clover and Doyle's goal gave them the lead. McKeesport made a foul and tied the score and right there, with six minutes yet to play in the half, the Cokers were left at the post. The half ended 17 to 7 in favor of the visitors.

In the second half McKeesport ran the score to 24 before the Cokers added one to their seven. Goals by Kummer and Ilgolf by clever teamwork made prospects brighter but after scoring up to 13 McKeesport had a run to 11 before the Cokers got another look in. In the last five minutes of play the Cokers ran their score to 22 but the Tubers literally rained baskets through their netting and totalled 43 in the same period.

Beggio's three long shots were features of the game. He was McKeesport's shining star during the contest while Andy Sears wasn't far behind. Ahern more than held his own on the tipoff with Getzinger but the Tuber guards got several taps intended for the Coker forwards. The lineup:

Cokers—22.		McKeesport—43.
Doyle	Forward	Boggio
Dark	Forward	O'Donnell
Ahern	Center	Getzinger
Beggs	Guard	Morris
Ilgolf	Guard	Sears

Substitutions—Kummer for Doyle.

In the preliminary game last night the Y. M. C. A. team walked away with the Red Cross 31 to 5. The second half developed into a farce and as a comedy stunt was something out of the ordinary. Port starred for the Red Cross quintet and his dribbling was decidedly clever. Marshall, Francis and Thomas played best for the Y. M. C. A.

In the first half, for the first score of the game, Snair tapped the ball into the Y. M. C. A.'s basket, scoring two points for his opponents. The lineup:

Y. M. C. A—31		Red Cross—5
Marshall	Forward	Port
Wilson	Forward	Richey
Bradley	Center	Smith
Francis	Guard	Cunningham
Thomas	Guard	Snair

Field goals—Marshall 4, Francis 4, Thomas 2, Wilson, Snair*, Port.
Foul goals—Thomas 1 out of 11; Richey 3 out of 14; Marshall 1 out of 5; Port missed 5.
Referee—Herwick.
*Snair's field goal was in Y. M. C. A. basket.

Reports Were Not Exaggerated.

As Many Local People Are Testifying.

The Root Juice instructors made many lasting friends while here. Their wonderful remedy has done worlds of good at this point and reports of cures are being circulated from every direction. The drug store is more busy than ever wrapping up Root Juice and listening to the many flattering reports of the great good it is doing.

Mrs. Sarah Collins said: "I used to bloat so at times I could hardly get my breath; sour gases would form in my stomach and dull, heavy headaches were at times so bad I felt I would go crazy; my tongue coated any I always had a bad taste in my mouth. My hands and feet were cold at times and at other times they would burn like fire, but thank my good stars, after hearing so much about Root Juice, I went to the drug store and bought a bottle of it and after using the first bottle I went back and bought two more bottles. I have used it all and don't think I will need any more, as I feel as well as I ever did in my life."

Root Juice seems to be good for any troubles of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or blood. It is sold for one dollar a bottle or three for two dollars and a half at Graham & Co's drug store.
